

The Greater Detroit Chapter . . .

- 1) . . . encourages its members to keep themselves informed on public health issues, both seasonal and perennial, that dominate the public news cycle from time to time;
- 2) . . . reminds its members that public health experts regard singers to be “super spreaders” of airborne pathogens;
- 3) . . . expects its members to absent themselves from official and unofficial chapter gatherings if they have reason to think that by their presence there could be an elevated risk of spreading such pathogens to others present.
